Mark and Susanna Webster

Saturday 25th November 2006

Mark and Susanna Webster are one of the most successful underwater photography teams in the business. They are professionals who have forged a large part of their enduring career in the oceans of the world. Mark has been a leading underwater image maker for more than twenty years. Diving is in his blood. He has worked as a diver from the oil platforms of the North Sea and now acts as a diving supervisor in places like Angola. But it is in underwater reportage, competition successes and coaching that Mark Webster has made his reputation. He is renowned for a treasure trove of underwater photography awards earned in competitions staged across the globe. His international standing was further enhanced with the launch of his book, "The Art and Technique of Underwater Photography", which has become indispensable reading for newbie and professional alike. Mark often fuses his considerable writing talents with his accomplished eye for a picture and is well known as a regular contributor to "Diver Magazine" with many covers to his credit.

For many years Mark has passed on his underwater photography skills to others on workshops he leads to locations as exotic as Lembeh, Komodo, Thailand and Margi. It is a strong endorsement of Mark's achievements as a photo coach that places are usually oversubscribed and that there is a waiting list. Susanna Webster is the lady you will often see modelling before Mark's lens. The success of Mark's diver images, whether winning competitions, meeting the needs of a commercial client or gracing the pages of a magazine, is usually the result of their joint determination to create a great image. Modelling underwater is a hard task that Susanna makes look deceptively easy.

Both Mark and Susanna are in great demand upon the speaker's circuit. Ocean Optics – Mavericks Diving has been fortunate to secure them both for a special photographic day on Saturday, November the 25th. From around 1.00pm Mark and Susanna will be at the showroom to run individual photo clinics.

Simply ring in and make an appointment to sit with Mark and Susanna for ten or fifteen minutes. Bring in your laptop with a few of your images and enjoy the benefit of some personal coaching from these leaders in underwater imaging. At around 6.30pm, join them for a stunning presentation of some of their latest work at our specially hired lecture room at Kings College in the Strand

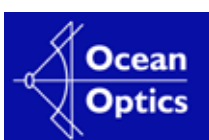

It's going to be a Saturday to remember.

We look forward to your company.
